SITUATION SUMMARY

West Lake Incident, Kern and Los Angeles Counties (Final)

- A low-pressure weather system absorbing moisture from the south sparked severe weather, mudslides and flash flood watches and warnings across Southern California Thursday evening.
- As much as 4 inches of rain fell in a short period of time in localized areas, portions of which were covered with golf ball-sized hail.
- Flash flooding sent water, mud and rocks rushing across Interstate 5 at Fort Tejon, stranding hundreds of vehicles and closing the major north-south thoroughfare. Some secondary roads were left impassable from mud.
- There have been no reports of serious injuries or deaths, as of this report.

Activations

- Kern County EOC is activated at Level 2
- City of Palmdale EOC is activated at Level 1.
- The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health DOC activated on 10/16/15 at 0800 hours.
- City of Lancaster (Los Angeles County) EOC remote activation on 10/15/15.

Road Conditions and Closures

Per Caltrans:

- Highway 58 remains closed. Cleanup efforts continue with approximately 60-70 vehicles stuck. Estimated time of reopening is Wednesday, 10/21/15.
- Kern Co. and Fire are assisting with loaders to assist in removing debris.

Resources assigned:

Per Cal OES FDO:

- 1 OES Type III engine has been assigned as part of internal response

Infrastructure & Utilities

- Union Pacific Railroad (UPRR) has arrived at the area of damaged track with loaders and dozers. Access is still being inhibited by Hwy 58 being closed eastbound from Bakersfield. No access to Tehachapi from Mojave. Initial assessment appears to be a high volume of mud as opposed to water eroding the track. Main track #1 could be reopened as early as this evening for train traffic at reduced speed.

Proclamations

- A Proclamation from Los Angeles County has been received proclaiming a local emergency as a result of flooding and debris flows.
- There are no unmet needs by Los Angeles County from the State at this time

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

An upper level low will move across the area and produce isolated terrain driven showers today. Dry and warmer weather conditions are in store for early to mid-next week as high pressure builds over the region.

Medford Weather:

The closed upper low will continue its inland trek today with showers throughout the day. A weaker front will move onshore Monday before washing out Monday night as an upper ridge builds into the region. On Tuesday, temperatures will rise nearly ten degrees from Monday. Another front will move in after the ridge moves east Thursday and there will be just a glancing blow of precipitation on the northern fringes of the forecast area.

Reno Weather:

Low pressure over Northern California will keep shower activity across the region today with isolated thunderstorms possible. Temperatures will cool off to near seasonal normal before warming again next week.

San Francisco Weather:

Dry weather is expected for the remainder of the weekend for most of the forecast area along with near normal temperatures. Warmer temperatures are forecast by Tuesday and Wednesday as offshore flow develops and an upper ridge develops near the West Coast.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY:

Sacramento Weather:

Another day of unsettled weather with cool temperatures and showers/thunderstorms will give way to a breezy beginning of the week, with warming temperatures and dry weather returning.

Hanford Weather:

A chance of showers and thunderstorms today as an unstable air mass remains over the region. Higher pressure moving in by Monday will produce clearer skies and warming temperatures for the area through the week.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

Low pressure aloft will bring the possibility of mainly afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms to the mountains and deserts through today. Coastal morning clouds and patchy fog is also possible today. A second low pressure aloft will support cooler temperatures today and Monday and then gradually warming through the middle of next week as the low slowly pushes to the east.

Extreme Southwestern California including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

A low pressure system moving inland into California today will maintain a deep marine layer into Monday with a chance of mainly afternoon and early evening thunderstorms today for the mountains and deserts. A second low pressure system will develop near Yuma on Tuesday. This will bring weak to locally moderate offshore flow with gusty northeast winds near the coastal foothills for Tuesday and Wednesday. Weak high pressure aloft will follow into next weekend bringing a warming trend.

Southeast California Weather:

A series of slow moving low pressure systems will bring elevated chances of showers and thunderstorms to the region through the middle of the week. A modest drying trend is expected on Monday but this will be short lived as a second low moves into the Desert Southwest on Tuesday, remaining in place through Thursday. Drier air will then move into the area late in the week.
